PREFACE OF EDITORIAL

Dear beloved readers,

Here comes BattleEARTHofAtrocity #1 (the very late issue of the year), after a lot of work and pain due with some inevitable problems that forced me into awful mentally-disorder and with all efforts have successfully beat the pressure, finally it's completed!. Thanks for the peoples who submit their contribution and help me through the completing of this issue. Less two year I've start doing this shit and not very satisfy with the result. However, the case studies in this zine pertained from a mass of writing about several issues which have been chosen by me with other individuals help because to combine the theoretical ideas with empirical discussion of what actually happened in the world of politics, economy, etc. But there is some mistake that I can't find through my writings of certain issue include my bad language, so I would like to say sorry about that. In this issue I've included some historical story which can be used to create concern among us as illustrate the problems of what we faced now. And you also can find some crappy stuffs inside even inexpedient for you to read. So I'm not satisfy even you also not satisfy but honestly this is my first experience in making zine, so please give me a chance to improve every mistakes that I've done through this issue.

Life always changed and too much things happen to my life since I expect myself is no longer exist. Living my personal everyday boredom increased with mental depression when thinking about future, human behaviour, problems surrounding, love (ha!) and so on really makes me thought how good this world defiled by the people who's full of greed, selfish, lost of responsibility, ego, dishonest, prejudice and all of that. But I don't give a damn about it because I need to stand on reality of what I am and ascertain a positive changes in myself through my life experianced. Day by day the world's phenomenon still on dilemma because of mankind power. What's really draw my attention is the never ending conflict of Israel-Palestine and US-Afganistan (since terrorist attack 11 september 2001) while so many innocent victim died and forced to immigrated themselves to another safety places. The malicious and spitefulness backlashed another and war becomes a weapon to maintain power. So let's we invoke the justice for innocent victim who's died in this another tragic of world history and gives our full support towards innocent people rights. And also thanks for whom that was 'berjihad' fighting terrorism but not like 'berjihad' such give more complication in to the scene, that's not for the funeral! so conclusion so far, it's a coup d'etat (army/military take over) that's master minded (pretty badly) with the brother. (A commando group of high trained militia guys with silencer guns? or just an all out shoot to kill.)

The situation here is that we have no news coverage of the incident, no explanation, all the tv and radio play one sad classical indian raag tune all day and night and there is a curfew and it's been announced that anyone out will be shot on the spot or can get up to 1 month in jail. The public is not told anything. Nothing. Most of us found out about the death of the royal family by getting calls from abroad from friends or family who heard about it on the news in their countries.

They have announced that for 5 days the whole country has to be in mourning: no fun or entertainment and all the satellite tv channels have been cut except bbc and cnn (star tv news got cut - it's indian and they were giving the most latest conspiracy theories plus statements from the maoists who stated that this is all a conspiracy and they are nothing to do with it...that they air bbc and cnn to whoever has cable tv is enough to make us think bbc and cnn aren't giving true coverage worth watching ) Most of all, no music is allowed to be played. They actually announced that it is an offence to play music or be involved in any kind of 'entertainment' related activity.

We are going to be in a state of civil war (we already were w/ the maoist verses the government situation but it was 'undeclared' and they never wanted media coverage of the massacres in the mid western hills). People are rioting in the streets and tear gas, beatings and killings are taking place as we write this. We're back to authoritarianism.

Nepal has been cut off from media resources and peoples' mouths have been forced shut and we send this email quickly hoping this form of communication won't be cut either. For all those who asked us about Nepal's political situation and can't get no hints from the media greats of bbc and cnn, this is it so far.

based for 'jihad', it's silly! Meanwhile legal-politics chaos generally in Sabah still not very strong but there is something that we must beware. Recently, I've heard the statement about the expenditure plan of Sabah in 2002 expected increase 14.8% from RM1,231 billion in 2001 and up to RM1,413 in 2002. Increasingly, federal Government gives a common fund in RM676.69 for the states to implement the developing project in Sabah. And the strategy also has set up to broaden the revenue based state economy in many aspect. But the capacity of this project seem fidgeted to the society's need especially co-ordinate educational methods for outer district or outskirts and development aspect for villagers. We must asking why, is this deliberate or would be overlooked? In the other case, the most dull opposition party in Sabah PBS once more join BN party component? Another BN party component Upko-PBRS want to combine into a new form of party? PTI and 'Ghost Voters' another problem? The state assembly at DUN scenario? Manifesto by incompetence politicians in Sabah? All these would be answer in the next issue of BattleEARTHofAtrocity, I'll try to bring an exclusive report for you about what mentioned above. Also I'll try to include more fresh issue about World/Local politics, economy etc situation but I don't want to make any promise on that because all these will base to the source I got. So hopefully I will receive more opinions, comments, etc from you peoples out there about the World/Local conflict and problem of what you think is relevant to shares.

Let's use some platform for we have discussing each other and please don't afraid to say your words. Also you can meets me directly and have a talk with me. I'm just a normal person while sometimes will going crazy with jokes. And I am very shy person especially with girl but that's not a cases to restrict our communication. For all kids out there, let's create something worthy for the society not only in HC/punk. Be mature and intellectuals. While I'm writing this, I just hope we still want to seeking more about our weakness because apprehensively the laxity would be not possible could happen to us. Don't let our motives, hope and commitment would be destroy by the laxity. Because my pleasant thoughts was predicted that laxity could becomes a killer in our scene. Every failure that we got is just another reflection to rouse our spirit in this beloved scene. We want every failure could changes and turning to success. However, the words "success" still didn't want to knock my frame of effort instead still concealing behind my weakness. But I'll never surrender on that. I believe to the word "strategy" that will brings me to success. A strategy of my action, a strategy of my future and a strategy of my beloved HC/punk scene. Well, now you're reading my #1 with less articles inside and I'm sure you gonna bored with

THE ECONOMIC-DEVELOPMENT STRUGGLES IN AFRICA

The struggles for political freedom in Africa has advanced since 1967. Mozambique, Angola and Guinea-Bissau are now independent sovereign states and members of the organisation of African unity. The struggle for majority rule in Zimbabwe for independence of Namibia is also further forward now than 34 years ago. All these are achievement of the people of those countries themselves, no one else has fought their battles for them. But it has been Tanzania's duty and privilege to support these freedom movement of the past. Nor shall their flinch from giving full political and diplomatic support to the Anti-Apartheid struggle. Rather they shall continue with effort to isolate South Africa culturally, economically and politically. And to give what help they can to the South African victim of racist brutality. In the fight for economic independence, cooperation with other third world countries has increased

Nepal in the Dark - Rai Ko Ris Reports Part #1

So, here's the latest:

Dear seadiy (South East DIY Network)...

we don't want the rest of the world to think we know what's going on in our country. we don't - the tv channels have been stopped, the radio has been stopped. Nobody has been told what actually took place at the royal palace that night and the people are rioting on the streets demanding an explanation and also protesting against the new king. we are in a state of a typical coup d'etat situation - where the military may take over.

This was a conspiracy and the public are getting killed or put in jail for asking what's going on. We are relying on gossip from our telephones from witnesses and anyone who heard anything. Expecting that any minute even the phone lines could be cut...who knows. No print media is available - there is basically a massive shut down on all media.

Even music is not allowed to be played (except for at today's king's coronation). While you watch crm and bbc you may wonder about small countries who get unnoticed just because it is not in the financial and military interest of the superpowers such as America and Britain. We are living here, and this is what's going on. In short, this is stuff we don't get told by our own government:

All the servants and cooks and guards present were killed (at least 40) that night at the palace massacre, as well as the whole line age of the king, his family, babies and all etc, except for his suspicious brother who was away in another part of nepal and who has now been crowned king. He was not a popular guy - corrupt as all the rest and even had been exiled once...

The story of the prince though, shooting his own family over a wedding feud was a good one since he was an alcoholic, druggist womanizer etc and they said he suicided after, ha ha...except his gun shot wounds were on his back, so that story is no good anymore. The king and queen had been blasted at the head...the head on the queen at the funeral was not even her own it was so blasted...so they put a doll's head on her

WEST COAST #1 newsletter/free

I'm only got this n/l released by PDYC (Papar Diy Youth Crew). It's really amazing to see papar become more bigger through it Ho/punk scene, congratulation for all the sceneters. Unfortunately, the articles contents in this n/l still cannot generate my mind so I left out my reading from it. But I want to state my argument referred to the articles "perdagangan manusia kian bertambah". Bring you religious reason towards gay(homosex) seem like a fascist person were dictate people's right. Of course it's a fault for someone muslim but we should respect their choices and as long as the choices not harm other people rights. The most important things, we are not GOD and of course religion is a personal matters which only YOU AND YOUR GOD! It's not about being evil like what mentioned in that articles. The best things we can do is to give them admonition/advise. I guess that's only mistakes I can see in that articles although the editor want to convey about the contravention of human rights. But it's ok, just always think when we want to express something. Anyway, there are interview with my band The Last Hardliner (really boring!!) and Underider. So you better check this out..

( Blake, NO-16, Lorong Austral 8, Taman Austral, Kepayan Ridge, 88200 Kota Kinabalu, Sabah )

since February 1967, although difficulties has not been was a matter for rejoicing. In Tanzania and elsewhere in Africa it seemed to take African economic unity a stage further forward. Unfortunately, political development in Uganda and a number unilateral transgression of the treaty by Kenya have put the community in jeopardy. The Government is working to overcome the current difficulties and to get agreement on treaty revision which will enable all partner states to work together cooperation in East Africa is needed by the whole continent for a valueable weapon in the fight for greater economic development and freedom. But with the very great sadness that the hope of reviving the East Africa community is now a very slight one.

Another colleagues neither had, nor have, the desire for real cooperation. there is still a long way to travel before Africa is liberated. Cooperation with other developing countries has increased. With Zambia, Tanzania's communication links has been multiplied since 1967. The road to the border has been realigned and macadamised it is now of the best and strongest roads in the country which is helpful to the peoples in Southern Tanzania as well as to the neighbour. The jointly-owned oil pipeline has helped Zambia to with stand the Smith regime's counter-attack against free Africa through that front line states. And the Uhuru Railway also jointly owned by Zambia and Tanzania was opened in 1976 although construction only began in 1970. For this every important Inter-African link that are greatly indebted to the Government and peoples in China who made an interest-free loan and provided all the technicians and engineer needed for this major undertaking. The Railway has already provided greater economic security to Zambia and therefore greater security for the freedom of the country. It provides an opportunity for an almost limitless expansion of trade between the two countries. And it also opens up large areas of Tanzania for economic development. New trading opportunities have been created also by the independence of Mozambique and the links are being fostered by a jointed Tanzania/Mozambique economic commission. A similar joint commission exist between Tanzania and India for realised that some of the manufactured goods and used to buy from the developed world can be obtained more cheaply from India. This kind of reorientation of trade is an advantage to the third world as a whole as well for it makes the poor countries less dependent on the rich states. And with China, Tanzania's economic links are constantly being strengthened.

There has been something of a fall in the number of chinese good's sold in this country now that the commodity credit connected with the railway has been exhausted. But this merely enables re-arrangement of our trade and other links on a more permanent basis. The jointly owned Tanzania-China shipping line is operational

Tanzania has also been working on a multilateral basis with other third-world countries in dealing with the developed world. The "Group of 44" which negotiated the agreement with the European economic community was able to obtained on it's own. And the "Group of 77" (which really involves more developed countries than that). Tanzania has been able to work in unity with other exploited nations to fight for a new international economic order. As a result, this demand is no longer a dream, it is now a matter of world politics.

ADVANCING THE STRATEGY

Today our HC/punk movement is a hot-bed of the liberation struggles. We are here to create alteration for the freedom of human integrity, social independence and all of worry benefiting the communities itself. We are optimistically against all kind of oppression that we believe was made by the government, establishment and of course the system. Even created a step to changing something from worsening situation to a better surviving in this world. Unfortunately, the present situation showed there is no people which has achieved the stage of total freedom. We are still the people suffering from the weakness inheret in being oppressed, exploited and humiliated. We are failed actually to do what we had desired about especially in representing our main motives in HC/punk. In fact our awareness still doesn't work to give any impact in the masses situation. It is our weakness that has led to us being oppressed, humiliated and disregarded, have we realise it? - Freedom is a very subjective and everybody have their own defination about that word also everyones want it. However, total freedom is quite impossible here because we still need to have such a guideline as for chasing our discipline and moral values. The highly level of morality in peoples mind are very close even eligible to achieve a total freedom but the condition of irrational rule and regulation simply becomes another restriction to allowed our freedom of speech. For example, our prime minister has set up that malaysia perform Democracy as expedient implementation for this country. So that everyone has allowed to speak freely based on the doctrine of Democracy system. As a metter of fact, we still need a rational system that adequate to protect human rights, justice and peace. But what we have now is a critical level for human rights that's been denied by our Government through it's unfair political system. The problem is why our voice can't be a cause for a purpose even criticize the

What can I say about this third issue, it's more terrible and nevertheless from the previous issue. Column about politics, personal, rape, etc and with the very kick ass letter section still interesting as before. Plus interview with King Ly Chee and Reinforce. Anyway, I'm highly agreed when Abira said "Hc/punk should be intellectual" when he talk about Intellectualism. For me, if we still have injudicious or any nonsense action so our voice can be realistic instead the society will ignore to us. Think about it! so if your brain was hungry, give SADIS for the healthy food and make sure your brain will shout "eeerk" (hehehe!)...highly recommended!!

Government itself. Why does majority demand always being heard but how about the minority? is this so-called Democracy? -

In Malaysia Judiciary system, according The Tribunal Established Under Article 125(3) and (4) of The Federal Constitutional, the spiritual corruption, the cynicism, the moral turpitude, the viciousness and the horrible ruthlessness which attended the exercise of falsely accusing Tun Salleh Abas (Former Chief Justice Of Malaysia), hastily putting him before a tribunal of questionable character and quickly removing him to step down because allegedly of misbehavior as a judge. He was publicly humiliated and then removed of his post of what I can only describe as trumped-up charges. The action against the lord president and the way of tribunal to remove him has conducted. There are many great peoples against the action but these are ignored by the Government. I'm not saying that supporting him but just take as a lesson of what happened to him may prevent others in this country from suffering the same fate. The Judicial independence is seen just wield their power as an inconvenience and a threat for people rights. Do we have justice in our judiciary system? As the most Malay people say, because the water is calm do not think there are no crocodiles below. The protection of human rights still nebulous in Malaysia when Internal Security Act (ISA) emerged and defiled the Constitutional Authority System which forced prisoner into "Capital Punishment" were classified it for country's security (ISA - originally to handle communist threat). The appearance of ISA actually brings immediate danger for the people safety and of course to refuted the Government only. In other cases, The Printing Presses and Publications Act are clearly invaded human rights when every print or electronic media has regularly restrict the space to write freely. How they can voice out their opinions and how peoples can get a detail explanation? That's why we can see only a good news of Government were obtainable on the media. Even some independent journalist in pro-Government/pro-opposition party newspapers had published in Malaysia such like Harakah, Bebas, Detik, etc. But the Government assaulted every group of journalist under ISA because of promoting pro-reform movement. Obviously, all system was made deviously with cunning and ingenious plan to make people will not dispute but will do side Government. Again, is this so-called Democracy? This is a fraud of deception Democracy system that Government feeds to us.

So now we want to press freedom from it, we want a Revolution!. The greatest aim of our revolution is to liberate human right and to set out with strategies which will enable us to safeguard, consolidate and further our revolution. We want a revolution to repeal all parliamentary system that could invade human rights and call for transitional government towards real democracy with the human rights standards. Able we? - (We do not get good laws to restrain bad people. We get good people to restrain bad laws - G.K.Chesterton - All things considered, 1908). Looks at Indonesia, few hundreds student demonstrators on the streets as threaten their consensus political elite were the fall of Suharto regime. They have success to press freedom of overthrown corrupted parliamentary of Indonesia government. In 1989, at Tian An Men, the strikes protesting the martial law and call for a real democracy and also raising for a freedom as reclaim human rights for the people's Republic of China. In Mexico, hundreds of Zapatista communities has overthrown all authorities of state to regain of big landowners and formed peasant co-operatives. They also formed democracy which developed by Chiapas communities of indigenous people under command people's assemblies. The spirit of freedom of human right also witnessed around the region like in Russia, South Korea, Spain, Hungary and others. How about us? Do we take any action here? My assumption about our struggles for revolution is no need to expect with something unrealistic that infinite within our enthusiasm to achieve freedom. It doesn't mean we must throw away our good value of eastern culture and follow something blindly. Instead let's create awareness concerned among us in HC/punk who believe in human rights. We can build a revolution by our own way based on common sense with the situation in our region. Revolution couldn't exist without revelation but the strategy could become a stream of revelation. We must build a mass movement which every peoples from all kind of background can join in to consolidating our voices and for advancing our revolution. Just stop being narrow conservative-minded! This is something about our responsibilities toward peoples who's need help in our society. Every revolution is depend upon the people and every revolution not await for the people but the people itself come to seeking revolution. I believe the future of oppressed peoples will appear after revolution. So the best way to create the future is with strategy. The strategy of knowledge and tolerance. Think about we are (with) now and let's try do what is right for the future generations.

I finished up my reading only 1 days and I enjoyed it much. I don't wanna say more because this is recommended!!

in twentieth Century is an anomaly. Twentieth century liberalism emerged after world war I as a specially U.S antidote to a rising socialist movement. The economic crises, political movements and global restructurings of the last three decades, however have led to a powerful and often reassertion of geography in the global economy. The unprecedented fluidity of capital and labour in the global economy comes at an extraordinary cost, namely the necessary fixation of massive amounts of capital, immobilized in the structures and infrastructures of production and circulation. A whole new built environment is currently being fixed in place, a new geography constructed, in order to fix the possibility of economic and global flexibility. There have been notable successes in the 1990 by political movement opposed to neo-liberalism for instance, in Mexico the combination of a Zapatista uprising and worker led opposition to NAFTA has conducted that government to an unprecedented extent. In South Korea, student revolt and worker's struggles finally overthrew centuries of white colonially implanted rule. But many of the political movement of the postwar years have also suffered considerable defeats, few more profound than the US labour movement, the defeat of which has been central in opening the space for a US - led turn of the century neo-liberalism.

Internationally, labour defeats in the late 1970 and 1980 far outweigh the victories. Feminist and Environmental activist were among the leaders of movement against NAFTA and european integration; anti-racist movement have spearheaded struggles against the new european racism and police brutality in the US; Lesbian and Gay activist have lead AIDS activism in Europe and North America and Africa. Environmentalism, Feminism, Civil Rights, Anti-War and momentarily succesful national liberation struggles. In other places they are just as much responce to the new Capitalism way (such "Globalization" for instance). They comprise an extensive political backlash from the right against both socialist political movement of the left and this backlash is identifiable locally, nationally and at the global scale (IMF and US - Department of treasury) - The implicit assumption of a new economic era "Globalization" has been a phenomenon primarily of the financial markets. While this is an important part of the story, it that already pertained to the economy and at the same time it ignores the impetus towards global integration that comes from the production system. But at these production system became established, they became increasingly attractive as production locations for capitalist firms hitherto based in the kernel and through a flood of foreign direct investment and a web of integrated production, assembly and marketing arrangements between firms. The dramatically expanding production system of South and East Asia's became increasingly integral to the world economy by the early 1990. The balance of global manufacturing tilted to an unprecedented extent away from the old manufacturing centers, a process augmented after 1979 by the introduction of explicitly capitalist development policies. Is the Globalization works for integrated global system of production? within every single firms between firms across national boundaries? Provided a vital basis for the processors later popularized under the label "Globalization". None of this just to deny the Globalization has taken places so dramatically in the financial markets.

The 1960 uprisings, questioned the development models from inside. African decolonization and the utter failure of development agenda on that continent provided a second broad challenge. US defeat by communist in Vietnam by religious fundamentalist (given their opportunity by a strikes of oil worker). Working class from Osaka to the Ruhr but especially in Detroit were being disciplined by unemployment, reduced wages, work speed-ups, cuts in social services. After the 1970, the US confronted an altered globalism at home as much as abroad above which it could no longer hold itself and the new rhetoric of Globalization emerged in part as a means of re-establishing ideological hegemony. Spanning the shift from crisis to Globalization has registered a dramatically weaker economic performance in the kernel capitalist economy compared with the preceding period. Labour productivity and wage rates have increased at much lower rates which unemployment has risen more rapidly. A comparison of profit rates is especially telling. Increases on profit rates in all the G-7 group economies were significantly lower than in the preceding 20 years. Overall the figure declined from 17.6% to 13.3% but the decline was sharper in Germany (23.2% to 13.8%) and in Japan (21.6% to 17.7%). In manufacturing the drop in profit rates was even sharper. Therefore, Globalization is the embodiment and sources of crisis rather than it's solution. The dramatic collapse of the Asian economies since 1997 has had a major global effect in so far as demand for producer and consumer commodities has plummeted. Although there were significant short term sign of economic stabilization and even recovery in the financial markets of Asia by early 1999, unemployment and poverty rates have soared.

GLOBALIZATION TALK : New era of awareness

GLOBALIZATION

By : Ibrahim Ganyang

Globalization can be defined as a world without border, which had been spoken by many after the rising of world economics. Some of the international trades are still restricted by the tariff and taxes imposed by several countries, so in order to create solution for it the term Globalization is created. Maybe we can take example of EU (European Unions), the use of EURO as a main currency for EU nations had somehow creating a positive impact especially on the inter-border trades, so the exchange of commodity is easily done because some of the EU countries had signed a bilateral agreement which had imposed several laws to overcome trade difficulties. Maybe from the logic we can say that I will build sustainable economic environment where the small countries will be given chances to participate as a trade partners. Most of the big countries especially those G7 groups really hope that this "Globalization" will come reality because they can broaden they trade empire and spread thier influences especially to those small countries should take a term loans which somehow give this "bankers" a prerogative privilege to a small countries. This where the bad dream comes, this multi-national corporation and the survival of these small entrepreneurs will kill the local industry will be banished like that.

The decision made by PR of China to join WTO is really become a nightmare for the 2nd world countries who depend on the industrial income, what had been affraid is that the cost of production in China is lesser than what we have in a country like Malaysia, Singapore, Taiwan and South Korea, so the foreign investor especially who depend on the cheap labour to survive in the multi-national corporation will change their direction to the resources rather than putting so much direct and indirect cost towards the expensive labor, but the most important is the labor in China is well trained and some of them are professionals but due to the low standard of living, the wages paid is small compared to others countries. This is where we can see why Nike had opened their factory in Indonesia, mostly in the 3rd world countries the labor law is very intangible in nature, even they have laws on workers right but due to the bureaucracy factors, all the laws cannot be implemented effectively, the oppression of workers are slightly occurs in this region and some of them are not following the ILO regulation because we can see in some poor countries they even got a child labor and the working condition is very bad, the authority just can close their eyes and shut their mouth because they want to taking care this so-called "capitalist" who brought so much domestic income to the country. The term "Globalization" that had been spoken by many is not about creating international relationship but only beneficial only to some parties only where they can easily enter some of the countries without any problems because the laws and regulation had been altered and accommodated according to their needs. While those "neck-tie" and "corporate outlook" people sitting in the air-conditioners conference room discussing on what they should do to increase sales, most of the people are still live below the line of poverty.

For Malaysia, in this Globalization era it means that all the citizens should be more competitive whether it's healthy or unhealthy that is not a questions, what will born in this Globalization era is a people without heart, they are only knows how to fit their empty belly only, some of the humanity values might disappeared like that, the family system will be ruined like that and finally we only witness the destruction of humankind. Nowadays we have seen the effect, I am not trying to manipulate or blame all the person in this corporate fields, even I am also stuck in this world because somehow we have been forced to obey the current stream, all here just a hypocritical system, all pretending lika jocks and all only become a slave to the money influences. The value of humankind is seems to be destroyed like that and people are keep chasing the virtual dreams and gambling the whole life without regretting once. I am not saying that we should leave all this without trial, somehow in order to survive in this world, we should follows their dogmas and stupid theory but in minimal ways, correct me if i'm wrong that if you want to abolish all the system you should go to the deep forest and start the community like "The Amazon" TV series and start your own rules. What we have here is just a continuity of Dark Ages where even though the civilization is reached but the mindset and frame of thinking is still blur and unreal. Okay that is my opinion, just SMILE FOR REVOLUTION! E-mail me at: ganyang.zine@excite.com, peace.

Simple and short. I can see the editor becoming mature with his thought...that's what we want! The contents are interesting although still the basic issue from Hc/punk but you can find some good messages in it. I might agree that "school is not suck" but I'm having some contra with the editor opinions. For me every system still the same either you're in school or everywhere you live in. Thereto peoples are different in their needs which someone is dare to live in system and someone not. So surely there's someone will feel depress with the system and someone are not. Could we blame this differentiation? Anyway of course "school is not suck", for every kids out there please don't talk something nonsense. It's really weird! knowledge is very important. so want to get more explanation...get this!!

BANGKITLAH WAHAI TEMAN KU

By : Abira Sa'is

Bila aku berbicara tentang Globalisasi sudah terbayang ketidakadilan dan kepeitan yang bakal kita alami selaku penduduk peribumi dunia ketiga. Globalisasi adalah acuan barat semata-mata yang didasari oleh kapitalis2 terkemuka di negara2 maju yang kononnya prihatin terhadap aspek kebajikan secara antarabangsa. Kebimbangan akan Globalisasi sebenarnya sudah dirasai oleh pihak kerajaan (lupakan dahulu isu kezaliman mereka) terutamanya dalam tahun2 sebelum ini di mana PM menamakan fenomena ini sebagai penjajahan alaf baru olah barat. Mahu tidak mahu aku perlu bersetuju akan pendapat beliau di mana Globalisasi hanya sebagai pemangkin baru kepada negara maju (dan kapitalis) untuk menunjukkan kuasa dan menawan sesebuah institusi melalui strategi ekonomi yang boleh dikira sebagai cara berkesan untuk menguasai sesebuah institusi di dalam dunia moden kini. Penguasaan ekonomi yang seterusnya membawa ke arah penaklukan struktur politik seperti apa yang telah terjadi di Indonesia. Isu muflis kerajaan Indonesia, tekanan IMF dan politik tanahair yang bergolak dikhabarkan sebagai sebuah konspirasi oleh golongan atas berpendidikan Amerika Syarikat yang dikenali sebagai Berkeley Mafia untuk menguasai tampuk pemerintahan Indonesia atas telunjuk Amerika sudah tentu. Kebenaran khabar ini hanya tuhan yang tahu.

Amat menyedihkan di mana isu Globalisasi masih tidak mendapat tempat di hati rakyat tanahair walhal kitalah yang bakal menempa keperitan bila WTO (World Trade Order) mula melaksanakan tugas mereka. Tidak aku terkejut bila mana melihat rakyat masih jahil tentang isu ini. Mana mungkin mereka tahu tentang Globalisasi walhal nama Globalisasi itu sendiri tidak pernah mereka dengar. Tambah menyedihkan lagi anak2 muda di universiti juga jahil akan isu sebegini. Kita tidak dapat mengelak Globalisasi kerana ia adalah isu sejagat dan tiada satu institusi pun mampu menolak arus perdana yang kejam ini kerana kita telah lama diugut akan sekatan ekonomi yang bakal dialami jika kita menolak arahan WTO ini. Kerajaan memang tidak mampu menahan arus ini daripada berlaku dari tugas kita sekarang ialah bersedia untuk menghadapi segala kesulitan yang bakal berlaku. Aku kurang senang dengan usaha2 kerajaan yang nampaknya masih gagal untuk memberi kesedaran kepada rakyat walaupun tidak aku nafikan mereka juga berusaha untuk menghadapi isu Globalisasi seperti cadangan penggabungan syarikat2 dan industri2 kecil di bawah satu bumbung. Bagaimanapun usaha secara intensif perlu dilakukan segera dan tiada masa untuk merehatkan diri daripada memikul tanggungjawab ini.

Tatkala tarikh pelaksanaan Globalisasi semakin hampir, kerajaan masih terlalu sibuk dengan isu perpecahan melayu (hanya satu agenda politik untuk menutup kelemahan sendiri), menangkap aktivis2 reformasi dan segalanya. Di manakah penumpuan sebenarnya? Agenda Globalisasi yang bakal menjurus rakyat ke lembah keperitan atau agenda politik parti?

Golongan yang kecil, peniaga2 yang lemah dan rakyat dunia ketiga bakal merhadapi ancaman bila Globalisasi sepenuhnya dilaksanakan sepenuhnya kelak. Peristiwa himpunan aktivis2 anti-Globalisasi di Seattle, Amerika Syarikat adalah bukti keprihatinan sekelompok manusia akan isu sejagat ini. Usaha mereka untuk menggagalkan sidangantara negara2 maju akan pelaksanaan WTO (walaupun gagal) menggundangkan kesyahduan dalam diri aku akan tabahnya mereka menentang gas pemerdih mata dan menentang keganasan pihak polis demi menunjukkan rasa prihatin mereka. Ulasan Perdana Menteri Kanada yang mengatakan aktivis2 tersebut sebagai pengganas dan anti-demokratik, juga ulasan dari presiden George W Bush bahawa Globalisasi sebagai kebebasan sejagat adalah sesuatu yang tak masuk akal. Adakah demokratik bila golongan kapitalis barat menelan syarikat2 kecil lain? Adakah bebas jika hanya kapitalis2 barat sahaja yang mampu beroperasi dan sekaligus menguasai pasaran di seluruh dunia? Tatkala rakyat kita masih lagi terhegeh2 mencari definisi sebenar Globalisasi, nun di sana telah banyak protes anti-Globalisasi diadakan. Di Perancis petani2 bersama hasil ternakan mereka berhimpun di Menara Eiffel menunjukkan protes mereka, di Geneva Switzerland protes diadakan di hadapan bangunan PBB, di London England protes diadakan rentetan protes di Seattle dan di India, aktivis2 melemparkan najis lembu dan lumpur ke bangunan Ban Dunia. Persoalan sekarang, apakah pendirian rakyat kita terhadap isu ini?

Selaku seorang mahasiswa dan bakal mengharungi alam pekerjaan esok, tidak mampu aku menyembunyikan kebimbangan aku akan pelaksanaan Globalisasi kelak. Persaingan dalam bidang pekerjaan pasti timbul bila WTO dilaksanakan. Tiada ruang untuk mereka yang lemah untuk hidup senang dan pasaran pasti lebih cerah kepada individu yang mempunyai kelebihan diri (personal skill). Persoalan sekarang dengan sistem pendidikan yang di amalkan, tidak keterlaluan untuk aku katakan orang2 melayu atau sesiapa sahaja yang mempunyai asas pendidikan yang lemah bakal menempa sengsara. Bayangkan sahaja musibah dunia tanpa sempadan di mana negara dibanjiri tenaga2 profesional dari Indonesia, Indo-china, China serta India terutamanya di mana mereka amat berkebolehan dalam bidang tersebut. Aku ingin menjadi optimis tapi mampukah aku bersaing dengan mereka? Sudah tentu tenaga2 asing yang masuk nanti adalah yang terbaik dan dan tambah menyulitkan keadaan tenaga mereka lebih murah berbanding tenaga tempatan. Jadi siapakah yang cerah peluang pekerjaan mereka? Aku atau tenaga2 profesional asing tadi? Di pihak syarikat yang dimiliki oleh orang asing, pasti mereka ingin memiliki tenaga yang baik tapi murah bukan? Pasti mereka tidak memikirkan aspek sosial setempat. Globalisasi sudah semakin hampir dan seharusnya kita telah bangun dari tidur. Amat menyedihkan anak bangsa sendiri masih dibuai mimpi indah tentang hak istimewa orang melayu, walhal Globalisasi tidak mengira apa warna kulit kita, samada bersebia atau tidak zaman mencabar itu pasti datang. Yang mampu aku lakukan sekarang secara peribadi hanya membuat persediaan dari segi mentaliti dan ilmu. Globalisasi pasti membuka dimensi baru di mana penguasaan dari segi ilmu dan maklumat amat penting serta kemantapan mentaliti membolehkan kita hidup. Bangkitlah wahai teman2 ku. #### ANARCHISM: ITS PHILOSOPHY AND IDEAL

- Peter Kropotkin (1842-1921), a Russian prince who had been trained for the army, became a prominent figure in the proletarian movement of the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries. His first association with workers occurred in 1872 when he joined the International Workingmen's Association at Geneva. This group was not radical enough to fit in with Kropotkin's ideals, however, and he finally associated himself with the Anarchist movement. Originally, this group had favoured the immediate destruction of state institutions and the substitution in their place of entirely free co-operation among individuals, group, and areas. Under the influence of Marxian or "scientific socialism," however, anarchism moved gradually in the direction of a communistic society. It was with this trend that Kropotkin associated himself. He believed that a new society could be constructed on the ruins of the state - a society composed of the community voluntarily co-operating on a high moral level and for the common good of all. In 1896 he published his concepts in Anarchism, its Philosophy and Ideal, from which the following is taken.

UNDER THE NAME ANARCHY, A NEW INTERPRETATION OF THE PAST and present life of society arises at the same time a forecast as regard it's future... It seeks the most complete development of individuality combined with the highest development of voluntary association in all its aspects, in all possible degrees, for all imaginable aims; ever changing, ever modified associations which carry in themselves the elements of their durability and constantly assume new forms, which answer best to the multiple aspirations of all... This conception and ideal of society is certainly not new. On the contrary, when we analyse the history of popular institutions - the clan, the village community, the guild and even the urban commune of the Middle Ages in their first stages - we find the same popular tendency to constitute a society according to this idea; a tendency, however, always trammelled by domineering minorities... It was only in the sixteenth century that a mortal blow was dealt to ideas of local independence, to free union and organisation, to federation all of degrees among sovereign groups, possessing all functions now seized upon by the State. It was only then that the alliance between Church and the nascent power of Royalty put an end to an organisation, based on the principle of federation, which has existed from the ninth to the fifteenth century, and which had produced in Europe the great period of free cities in the Middle Ages... It is now hardly thirty or forty years ago that we began to reconquer by struggle, by revolt, the first steps of the right of association, that was freely practised by the artisans and the tillers of the soil through the whole of the Middle Ages. And, already now, Europe is covered by thousands of voluntary associations for study and teaching, for industry, for commerce, science, art, literature, exploitation, resistance to exploitation, amusement, serious work, gratification and self-denial, for all that makes up the life of an active and thinking being... These societies already begin to encroach everywhere on the functions of the State, and strive to substitute free action of volunteers for that of a centralised State...

And when we mark the progress already accomplished in that direction, in spite of and against the state, which tries by all means to maintain its supremacy of recent origin; when we see how voluntary societies invade everything and are only impeded in their development by the state, we are forced to recognise a powerful tendency, a latent force in modern society. And we ask ourselves this question: If, five, ten, or twenty years hence - it matters little - the workers succeed by revolt in destroying the said mutual insurance society of landlords, bankers, priests, judges and soldiers; if the people become masters of their destiny for a few months, and lay hands on the riches they have created, and which belong to them by right - will they really begin to reconstitute that blood sucker, the State? Or will they not rather try to organise from the simple to the complex, according to mutual agreement and to the infinitely varied, ever changing needs of every locality, in order to secure the possession of these riches for themselves, to mutually guarantee one another's life, and to produce what will be necessary for life? Will they follow the dominant

ENOUGH! is slow apocalyptic crust, they released split 10" with Croatian's NULA, split 7" with Finnish JUGGLING JUGGULARS and one demo tape and one song on "No Fate 2" comp. CD in Japan.

KRZYCZ is very noisy experimental HC band, 1 CD out and 1 EP.

1125 is great mixture of old and new school HC with strong, though vocals. They have released full length CD "Plonie Mi Serce" (Pasazer) recorded in Sweden, split 7" with Swedish WITHIN REACH (on Shing DIY) and one tape. Definitely you should check them!!!

JUDE is one of the most interesting, most original bands around here. Apocalyptic industrial HC will break your head. It's not something for positive HC kids; they concentrate on black side of human nature with all horrible things around (dictatorship, oppression, slavery, wars, etc.). They have also visual on their shows. When I'm writing this, they released their first recording after 4 years existing, a split 10" with DYSMORFOFOBIA (on Self Industry). New releases soon on Lagart. Their singer is a co-editor of "Sanctus Propaganda" fanzine. Their guitarists also play in other band called ZLODZIEJE ROWEROW.

SANCTUS IUDA is planning to record an LP on near future. They have some songs in various comp. like "I Slaughter Singing Madly Anthem" 7" and "Zero Benefit 2" LP.

INFEKCJA is a very fast thrashy band in a vein of DROPDEAD, maybe a little bit slower. Some of them live in alternative center called "Rejon". INFEKCJA released an EP and split EP with SO WAR and two tapes.

DIGUSTING LIES is a very fast crustpunk band with two 7" released, "Rich Man, Poor Man" (on Malarie) and split 7" with Japanese FACT (on MCR from Japan), and a demo tape. Their full length LP will be out soon from Malarie.

MILITARY FLY is now 100% drug free band playing very original mixture of emo rock and HC. They released "Quod Dicis Domine" 7" in DIY way and two tapes - last one called "MF isn't For Mother Fucker" on SXE label Youth Culture. One of their members is a co-editor of the longest Polish SXE fanzine, "Reality".

ROTTWEILLER as mid tempo HC/punk band with a 7" and 2 tapes released.

MONEY DRUG is extremal crusty punk band. They're really good. Furious crust with harsh vocals will break your head. They've split 7" with Finnish Wind Of Pain and live tape.

7 GODZIN SNU are well known from their "anti-PC" and funny "I'm Older-than-all-of-you" attitude. They're playing simple HC punk and they have one CD-split with SKTC and one demo tape. Their singer run one of the biggest and older DIY labels and mail order Enigmatic Records.

SWIAT CZAROWNIC is a much reggae-punk band, very melodic. They released "Hokka - Hey" CD. Their new records out soon on Pasazer Records. Member of ALIANS playing here.

TOXIC BONKERS mixing furious crust with death metal and they are really powerful. 2 of their members played in HOMOMILITIA in times HOMO'S LP. They released CD in Italy's well-known label SOA Records called "If The Dead Could Talk" and split 7" with UHURU.

PIEKLO KOBIET describes themselves as "feminist drunk punks" band but I don't think that they are real feminists or anarchists. 2 girls and 2 boys are involved in this band and they released "Wyzwolenie Mezczyzn Wyzwoleniem Kobiet" 10", "Prolife Jest Religijna Ofiara Na Oltarzu Wojny" EP and one demo tape. Their music is simple crust with female vocals. They have very good lyrics, sadly but they're not living like they're singing. It's very controversial band because of their hypocrite attitude. They're not true!!! They're also putting out controversial zine called "Wiedźma". I don't care about them at all...

AWAKE is our new school SXE band with really good sound. Their music I can compromise with bands like STRAIN. If you're into SXE/HC, check their full lenght CD and their demo tape. After long time of silences they back again with shows.

HEROINA is very melodic, poppy punk with female vocals. They released CD and demo tape. One of them played in one old punk band PROWOKACJA (84-87).

BARRICADES played midtempo political HC/punk; they changed their style into more metallic sound. They released "The Same Anguish" LP on German's label and 2 demo tapes.

SUNRISE is our Vegan SXE bands playing metal SXE bands. They have one CD and one demo tape. Their new 10"/mod will be released on Sober Mind Records from Belgium.

LIBERUM VETO is very melodic HC/punk band with one CD released.

KLINIKA is another kinda reggae punk band with female vocals. They have CD and demo.

tendency of the century, towards decentralisation, home rule, and free agreement; or will they march contrary to this tendency and strive to reconstitute demolished authority? It is often said that Anarchist live in a world of dreams to come, and do not see the things that happen today... Far from living in a world of visions and imagining [people] better than they are, we see them as they are; and that is why we affirm that the best of [people are] made essentially bad by the exercise of authority... Oh, the beautiful utopia, the lovely Christmas dream we can make as soon as we admit that those who govern represent a superior caste, and have hardly or no knowlegde of simple mortal's weaknesses!... All the science of government, imagined by those who govern, is imbibed with these utopias. But we know [people] too well to dream such dreams. We have not two measures for the virtues of the governed and those of the governors; we know that we ourselves are not without faults and that the best of us would soon be corrupted by the exercise of power. We take [people] for what they are worth, and that is why we hate the government of [one person] by [another], and that we work with all our might - perhaps not strong enough - to put and end to it. But it is not enough to destroy. We must also know how to build, and it is owing to not having thought about it that the masses have always been led astray in all their revolutions. After having demolished they abandoned the care of reconstruction to the middle class people, who possessed a more or less precise conception of what they wanted to realise, and who consequently reconstituted authority to their own advantage.

That is why Anarchy, when it works to destroy authority in all its aspects, when it demands that abrogation of all laws and the abolition of the mechanism that serves to impose them, when it refuses all hierarchal organisation and preaches free agreement - at the same time strives to maintain and enlarge the precious kernel of social customs without which no human or animal society can exist. Only, instead of demanding that these social customs should be maintained through the authority of a few, it demands it from the continued action of all. Communist customs and institutions are of absolute necessity for society, not only to solve economic difficulties, but also to maintain and develop social customs that bring [people] in contact with one another; they must be looked to for establishing such relations between [people] that the interest of each should be the interest of all; and that this alone can unite [people] instead of dividing them... As to the impotence of repression - it is sufficiently demonstrated by the disorder of present society and by the neccessity of a revolution that we all desire or feel inevitable... All that was an element of progress in the past or an instrument of moral and intellectual improvement in the human race is due to the practise of mutual aid, to the customs that recognised the equality of [people] and brought them to ally, to unite, to associate for the process of producing and consuming, to unite for purposes of defence, to federate and to recognise no other judges in fighting out their own differences than the arbitrators they took from their own midst. Each time these institutions, issued from popular genius, when it had reconquered its liberty for a moment - each time these institutions developed in a new direction, the moral level of society, its material well-being, its liberty, its intellectual progress, and the affirmation of individual originality made a step in advance. And, on the contrary, each time that in the course of history, whether following upon a foreign conquest, or whether by developing authoritarian prejudices men became more and more divided into governors and governed, exploiters and exploited, the moral level fell, the well-being of the masses decreased in order to insure riches to a few, and the spirit of the age declined.

History teaches us this, and from this lesson we have learned to have confidence in free Communist institutions to raise the moral level of societies, debased by the practise of authority. Today we live side by side without knowing one another. We come together at meetings on election day; we listen to the lying or fanciful professions of faith in a candidate, and we return home. The State has the care of all questions of public interest; the State alone has the function of seeing that we do not harm the interests of our neighbour, and, if it fails in this, of punishing us in order to repair the evil... In a Communist society such estrangement, such confidence in an outside force, could not exist. Communist organisation cannot be left to be constructed by legislative bodies called parliaments, municipal or communal councils. It must be the work of all, a natural growth, a product of the constructive genius of the great mass. Communism cannot be imposed from above; it could not live for even a few months if the constant and daily co-operation of all did not uphold it. It must be free. It cannot exist without creating a continual contact with between all for the thousands of common transactions; it cannot exist without creating local life, independent in the smallest unities - the blocks of houses, the street, the district, the commune. It would not answer its purpose if it did not cover society with a network of thousands of associations to satisfy its thousand needs; the necessities of life, articles of luxury, of study, enjoyment, amusements. And such associations cannot remain local and narrow; they must necessarily tend (as is already the case with learned societies, cyclist clubs, humanitarian societies, and the like) to become international... This, then, is the form - sociable institution - of which Nikt Nic Nie Wie. One of their songs appeared on comp. LP on Six Weeks Recs. from USA. Guitarist of this band is an editor of "Bunkier" zine.

S.K.T.C started in late 80's, they were one of the few Polish bands playing faster with more raw sound than typical old Polish punk bands. In early 90's they released famous demo tape, personally my favorite released of this band. Unfortunately their later records aren't so good compared with their demo tape. Their other releases are "Pochodnia" LP and split CD with 7 GODZIN SNU.

CZARNOBYL ZDROJ is very experimental, progressive punk band. It's hard to me to describe them. They have 2 records and one tape on Qqryq Production. Their video clip was on high commercial TV shows.

FATE is definitely not my cup of tea, very melodic, sweet with tons of reggae/ska parts with male & female singers. I've heard that female singer left the band. Some of the lyrics are good but some aren't (kinda religious). Released 2 records and many tapes.

INKWIZYCJA back again after few years of silences. They were best band around in early 90's, very critical towards Catholic Church and their power, their lyrics are great, music was hard and sometimes very fast, sometimes slow! They released their first DIY records in Poland ("NA Wlasne Podobienstwo. "LP) new 7" is called "Slowo". Some of their members played in first Polish SXE band U.O.M.

HOMOMILITIA is the most recognized abroad, and they are important to Polish scene. They were the first band in Poland singing about homophobia and sexism. Fast and raw punk with influences like NAUSEA, RIPCHORD, etc, with singers of both sexes and simple but good lyrics. They toured across Europe many times, as well as Poland. They have a couple of releases - "Twoje Cialo Twoje Wybor" LP, split EP with Finnish FORCA MACABRA, split EP with Japanese DISCLOSE and 2 live tapes and one song on comp. "Let Them Eat Butterflies" 7" with bands from Baltic countries. They planned their new recordings but it seems they're very lazy, so I don't know if they'll be able to make something new.

ATOMICO PATIBULO from Warsaw playing very original kind of HC, progressive with one member of DEZERTER. They calling their stuff art core. They released one CD on Qqryq.

LA AFERRA is one of the band around, playing very intense, high energy HC with really good lyrics, mostly about eco-militant stuff. These guys are very active into earth liberation so support them!!! They released "Ziemia Ginnie-Obudz Sia" LP and couple of tapes. New LP soon!!!

releases with German's HAPPY KADAVER) and new CD "W Samo Poludnie" on Antena Krzyku Recs. and one demo tape and songs on comp. "Turbopunk CD 1" and others.

POST REGIMENT is a next one well-known Polish band, existing a very long time (started in 87/88). At this moment they are playing much better, more & more fast with great female vocal. Even lyrics are better! They released 3 records ("Post Regiment", "Czary", and "Tragedia wg"). Post Regiment") and couple of tapes and songs on comp. like "All Human Rights Reserved" CD or "Pasazer #12 CD). Their new records has 32 ultra fast songs which are cover of older Warsaw band TRAGEDIA and it's recorded with members of this band. It's available both on CD and Vinyl format (LP on Wai Axe Recs. and Profane Existence/Skuld, and CD on Qqryq).

APATIA playing great HC from 89 and they are one of a few bands playing more into HC style. It was my favorite Polish band in early 90's, and they're still one of the best Polish bands. Apatia released 3 records ("Walka czy Apatia?", "Odejdź lub Zostan", and "Apatia"), 2 7" ("Punk Floid" & "5 Piosenek O Tym Jak Niszczylismy System") and 6 tapes. They're back with original line-up and they just rock!!! Check them out!!!

SCHIZMA is another long existed band, they're playing in much different style than on the early days. They're playing great moshy HC in NYHC style with 2 good vocals. Lyrics are in English and Polish. If you are into this kind of style, you should definitely check them. They're really good!!! SCHIZMA released 4 records (split with SKTC, "Miejskie Depresje", "Pod Naciskiem" & "Unity 2000"), 2 7"s and a couple of tapes. Their new CD "Unity 2000" released on STC recs. just rock!!! Lyrics mostly about HC scene, unity of the scene etc. Unfortunately, they're into violent dancing 'thing'...

EWA BRAUN has members of others Polish bands like Guernica y Luno and GO-REACH. They're playing very original and interesting music with many "Discord" influences and experimental stuff. They released 3 records, split 7" with GUERNICA Y LUNO and some tapes.

SILNA WOLA is very crusty punk band in vein of SELFISH, HIATUS, anyway much more powerful and with strong female vocals. Their lyrics touching typical topics, but is it something wrong? SILNA WOLA released "Chaos" 10" (Malarie), 2 7"s - "Silna Wola" (on Malarie) and "Zero Tolerancji..." (on Insane Society from Czech). Their latest release is CD with 11 their recordings, released on we ask the development of the spirit of harmony that Church and State had undertaken to impose on us - with the sad result we know only too well. And those remarks contain our answer to those who affirm that Communism and Anarchy cannot go together. They are, you see, a necessary complement to one another. The most powerful development of individuality of individual originally - as one of our comrades has so well said - can be produced only when the first needs of food and shelter are satisfied; when the struggle for existence against the forces of nature has been simplified; when [people's] time is no longer taken up entirely by the meaner side of daily subsistence - then, only, [their] intelligence, [their] artistic taste, [their] inventive spirit, [their] genius, can develop freely and ever strive to greater achievements. Communism is the best basis for individualism which drives [people] to war against all - this is the only one known up till now - but that which represents the full expansion of [their] facilities, the superior development of what is original in [them], the greatest fruitfulness of intelligence, feeling and will. Such being our ideal, what does it matter that it cannot be realised at once!... It is evident that so profound a revolution producing itself in [people's] minds cannot be contained to the domain of ideas without expanding to the sphere of action... Consequently, the new ideas have provoked a multitude of acts of revolt in all countries, under all possible conditions: first, individual revolt against Capital and State; then, collective revolt - strikes and working-class insurrections - both preparing, in [people's] minds as in actions, a revolt of the masses, of revolution...

And, during this same period, massacres, wholesale and retail, organised by governments, follow their regular course... What a terrible indictment the balance sheet of the sufferings endured by workers and their friends, during this last quarter of a century, would be! What a multitude of horrible deaths that are unknown to the public at large!... As long as society accepts the law of retaliation, as long as religion and law, the barrack and the law-courts, the prison and industrial penal servitude, the press and the school, continue to teach supreme contempt for the life of the individual - do not ask the rebels against that society to respect it. It would be exacting a degree of gentleness and magnanimity from them infinitely superior to that of the whole of society. If you wish, like us, that the entire liberty of the individual and, consequently, [her or] his life be respected, you are necessarily brought to repudiate the government of [one person] by [another], whatever shape it assumes; you are forced to accept the principles of Anarchy that you have spurned so long. You must then search with us for the forms of society that can best realise that ideal and put an end to all the violence that arouses your indignation.

INDIVIDUAL ACTION

By : Amir

1. Learn what is and is not recyclable, and what products recycled goods are used in. Remember, just because it's collected doesn't necessarily mean it's recycled. There are warehouses around the country filled with newspapers plastic milk jugs waiting to be recycled. If your community doesn't have a recycling program, it should. Lobby whomever necessary, from state senators down to town clerks.

Glass: Clear, amber and green glass is recyclable; milk-white glass, plate glass, light bulbs and crystal are not. Before taking bottles or jars to the recycling center rinse them out; labels can stay on. Remove metal rings separate by color and do not break. Roughly 90 percent of all old bottles can be made into new bottles, or used by glassphalt to pave streets and in bricks, tiles and reflective paint for road signs.

Paper: Recycle all newsprint, corrugated boxes, egg cartons, junk mail, telephone books, computer cards and print-out paper. Waxed or plastic-coated cellophane cannot be recycled. stack tie newspaper, breakdown cardboard. Recycled paper comes back as game boards, record jackets, grocery store food boxes, book covers, gift boxes, jigsaw puzzle, paper matches, game/show tickets and more.

Aluminum: Recycle all cans, foil, TV trays, ice-cube trays, aluminum siding, storm doors, windows, gutters and lawn furniture. One hundred percent of recycled cans can be made into new cans. Other aluminum items are made into similar products or castings for car parts.

Metal: Test all the metals with a magnet. If the magnet does stick to them, they can be recycled. Most ferrous metals like cast iron, steel sheet metal, tin-coated metals and bi-metal cans, can be recycled. For non-ferrous metals like nickel, bronze, copper, brass and lead, first check with your recycler.

POLAND SCENE REPORT

By Robert Matusiak

Hello to all Malaysian readers who interested in our scene. I'll try to give you much information as possible about polish bands, labels, distros, alternative places, political groups, etc. Unfortunately, our HC/punk, as well as anarchist movement aren't so radical or DIY oriented like some years ago. It's seems that people from our scene making more and more compromises with mainstream. It's very sadly thing. Anyway, we still have some caring bands, I'll write about everyone, choose something for yourself! Some bands, labels, groups and zines suck in my opinion, some of them are wonderful. I don't want to write about how I feel about Polish scene too much, because it's not worth of it. Who know, maybe I'm too critical... I don't know if you heard any Polish band from the past. Many good bands not exist anymore; some of them are sellouts. I would write about today's scene, but if you would like to know about older bands, just ask!

Bands:

ALIANS is probably the most popular band around here. They had many tours also in other countries. They're playing very melodic punk with huge reggae and ska influences (it seems that this kind of music is the most popular in Poland this moment, many bands are playing in this style, and ALIANS are most influence for them). They started something like 9 years ago and some of them were very active in DIY scene (distributions, labels). ALIANS released 4 records ("Mega Yoga", "Gavroche", "Cala Anarchia Miesci Sie W Uliczniku"), 2 7" ("Alians" & split

Critical Mass:

Central London - Last Friday of the month, 5.45pm, under Waterloo Bridge in front of the National Film Theatre. West London - Second Friday of every month 6pm Shepherds Bush Green, opposite the Empire. North London - Saturday after last Friday of every month 12 noon Hackney Town Hall, Mare Street. Skate Spots: Cantelowes, Camden Road (good stuff and fairly friendly) Kennington Park Bowl, Harrow, behind Sports Centre on Christchurch Avenue (dominated by BMXs, but quite good '70s concrete and a skate shop), South Bank, under Royal Festival Hall (snobby rich brats and nothing much there), Liverpool Street Station (illegal), The City (St. Paul's at night).

Squatting:

Advisory Service for Squatters (2 St Paul's Road, London N1 2QN, Phone 020 71 359 8814, Mon-Fri 2-6pm but phone first), Brixton Squatters Aid (c Phone 020 71274 6655), Hackney Squatters (BM CRL London WC1N 3XX), Southwark Homeless Info Project (612 Old Kent Road, London SE15, Phone 020 71 277 7639, Mon-Fri 4-7pm)

Vegan Food:

There are dozens and dozens of veggie restaurants in London. Drummond Street NW1 has some of the best of the many Indian vegetarian places. Even the omnivorous restaurants all have vegan options. Health food shops are dotted all over town including the easy to find Holland & Barrett chain. Here are some of the better specialised places. For more, pick up the book Vegetarian London from the bigger bookshops on Charing Cross Road or order on the internet. Pumpkins - the best & cheapest vegan caff in town (76A Clarence Road, Hackney E5, Hackney Central Station), Tai - awesome Chinese buffet (10 Greek Street W1), Beatroot - take away with fab cakes (92 Berwick Street W1).

Women's London:

Women's Resource Centre: Has an events noticeboard. Womeninlondon: A directory of groups. Women's Environmental Network: Campaigns and distribution of Plastics: recycle all plastic containers. Rinse them, remove metal caps. The recycled product is used for fiber-filling for jackets, flowerpots, paintbrush bristles and plastic strapping for shipping.

2. Reuse items whenever possible. Avoid bulky, disposable items. Buy products in reusable containers. Reuse wrapping papers, plastic bags, boxes and lumber. Give clothes to friends or charity. Donate old appliances to Goodwill or local charity.

3. Encourage source reduction. In industrial countries, packaging contributes about 50 percent of the volume of household waste. Keep this in mind when shopping. When buying toothpaste, for example, consider if it is really necessary that it comes in a box and goes home in a paper or plastic bag too.

4. Precycle. A new concept it implies simply that you should consider the end result of everything you buy and where it will eventually rest. Choose products carefully, consider the environmental impact of each: Is it safe? Is it reusable? Is it recyclable?

5. Compost. Food and yard waste are second in the volume of landfill space they occupy after packaging materials. If you don't have room at home, encourage your community to establish neighborhood compost heaps.

6. Burning anything from leaves to computer paper, creates toxic emissions. Incinerate only as last resort.

7. First investors in new york encourages it's employees to pick up at least one piece of trash or litter on the way to and from work and toss it in the nearest trash can. If every company and school encouraged similar programs, streets would be cleaner.

8. If your community doesn't recycle plastic, urge them to.

9. Refillable glass bottles only require a thorough washing after each use and are designed for 30 round trips from the store shelf to the consumer. Consider them when possible over plastics.

10. Shop where you can get fruits and vegetables without plastic wrapping.
  11. At cookouts, wash and reuse plastic silverware and plates or use paper plates instead of styrofoam.
  12. Don't buy tampons with plastic applicators.
  13. save paper whenever possible. Make double-sided copies when photocopying, reuse paper bags, reuse scrap paper for notes.
  14. Encourage your local grocery store to carry both paper and plastic bags; better yet, carry your own string bag, which you can reuse many times, to the store.
  15. Encourage your elected officials to levy a tax on packaging used for food prepared for immediate consumption (e.g., fast-food containers).
  16. Buy durable products like cloth napkins, silverware, cloth diapers, multiple-use razors, lighters and pens, rather than disposable.
  17. When things break-from televisions to tricycles-fix them rather than dump them.
  18. Share newspapers, magazines and catalogs with others. Don't subscribe to any you don't read.
  19. Have garage sales or charity pickups rather than simply throwing away household goods you've tired of.
  20. Consider having your milk delivered by a dairy in refillable bottles. If you buy spring water, use a service that delivers large refillable bottles instead of buying individual bottles at the store.

this. A punk guy often has a very small record stall set up in front of the shop and I believe some HC kids congregate there on Saturday afternoons. It is far from a mecca! You can find lots of (overpriced) second hand records at the second hand shops at Notting Hill Gate and Camden High Street. Shake Some Action (100 Church St. Croydon, Phone: 020 81-686 4512) has an excellent selection of hc/punk/emo/etc. and sometimes free gigs in the shop.

Venues:

Swan, Seven Sisters Road, Tottenham (Seven Sisters tube) has most of the good gigs at the moment. Other pubs are: Golden Shoe (47 Meeson Street Homerton E5) Red Eye (Copenhagen Street, N1, near King's Cross Station) sometimes had gigs, Goldsmiths Tavern (aka 'GMT', New Cross Road, SE14) has regular punk rock shows, every Saturday at the Arsenal Tavern, Blackstock Road, Finsbury Park.

21. Buy nickel-cadmium batteries for your waklmans and cameras and recharge them. Also though alkaline batteries cost more, they last longer than carbon-zinc batteries and a better value.

22. Don't be afraid to speak out, whether in your community or by letters to manufacturers about the importance of source reduction and recycling.

23. Find out what scrap processors in your community will take or buy. Investigate all the various recyclable markets-for cans, paper, household scraps, tires, etc.

24. Consider designing or redesigning your house/life style to accommodate recycling. Two books that will help are: Redesigning the American Dream by Dolores Hayden (Norton) and Smart Kitchen: How to design a comfortable, safe, Efficient and Money-Saving Workspace by David Goldbeck (Ceres Press).

25. Encourage recycled and recyclable goods at work, including all stationery, brochures and catalogs as well as buying recycled packaging.

26. Be a smart, determined shopper. If you're not happy with your grocer because he/she refuses to stop using polystyrene to wrap meats vegetables, organize a group to talk to the store manager. Also encourage him/her to put more "recycled" and "recyclable" products on the shelves.

27. If you really want to watch what you buy, write the U.S. Council on Economic Priorities, which distributes "Shopping for a Better World" a 128-page booklet that rates 138 U.S. companies and their products in 10 areas of social performance, one of which is the environment. Both will send catalogs and Earthcare specializes in small orders.

29. Encourage reverse vending machines in your neighborhood. they make recycling aluminum cans a breeze. Just put the cans in and get a deposit back. They save retailers time and money. More than 12,000 are in use worldwide. Sweden has one third of the total and most of the rest are in Norway, France and the United States. Most read universal codes and come in indoor and outdoor models. Bottle bills should also be a priority of all state and national legislatures, requiring deposits on cans bottles.

30. Carry clean forks, knives, spoons even plastic straws in your purse, briefcase or car, so that when going to a fast-food restaurant, you won't have to use their plastic utensils.

31. If your community burns or is considering incinerating garbage, organize/educating or join the opposition.

INTERVIEW SECTION : WITH INNERTRUTH      Answered : By Zaidi

1. What is the main objectives that INNERTRUTH involved in the scene? Tell me briefly about INNERTRUTH history and the current line up? In fact, what is INNERTRUTH fight for generalising towards our Hardcore-Punk Movement?

A salammualaikum and greetings to all of you my fellow mates! Here's Zaidi bouncing back this interview. INNERTRUTH consist 6 kids and they are Mazri-vocal, Ming-vocal, Loreno-guitar, Rayner-guitar, Den-bass and me-drum. We've been involved in this scene I think mainly to create and show our own ideas about Hardcore-Punk and our life. The band had been together since 1999 and Ming joined us in venue/pub/cafe/infoshop/etc opens the punks will always have a venue and we'll be able to keep all that beer money in the scene for a change (<http://www.emmaz.org.uk>). There is also the 56A Infoshop, 56A Crampton Street, SE17 (Elephant and Castle Underground); a squatted, volunteer-run autonomous space with the non-profit Fareshares wholefoods shop, the infoshop has an anarchist archive, zines, books, music, t-shirt, patches etc, a bicycle workshop and occasional events such as a cafe, meeting etc. It's also a good place to start out for Central London Critical Mass. Music wise, the hardcore bands are getting pretty good at the technical stuff and there is also an experimental movement emerging in town with keyboards and the like.

Band:

Nailbiter: is a typically cosmopolitan London band: Scandinavian punk played by Brixton-based Brazilians, Palehorse: loud metallic stuff (77 Centurion Close, London N1, metalwarlord@hotmail.com), and contact the this address for the members' various side project bands such as Record Buying Public - instrumental math rock-y and Thanks For Nothing - Fast short hardcore with weird bits. Other bands include Hythe - atmospheric instrumentals (22 Marmora Road, London SE22 ORY, UK, hythehythe@hotmail.com), Wat Tyler - silly punk pub rock (c/o Rugger Bugger Recs), the Tone - ska-ish Clash-ish punk, Knuckledust - most well known UKHC band; but unfortunately the singer encourage lots of stupid violent dancing and other macho shite, Hard Skin - joke Oi! Skinhead band with Sean from Wat Tyler, Intensive Care - street punk, Cracked Cop Skull - South London squat rock, Throw Bricks at Coppers - old style punkrock. A scene is emerging in the grim suburban town of Croydon that will be worth keeping an eye on. If you want to know about it I'd recommend contacting the Shake Some Action shop and I believe there is also now a Croydon punk website.

Gigs Collectives:

At the moment London has a few gig collectives that are well worth supporting. La Vida Es Un Mus distro puts on most diy hc gigs at the Swan pub in Tottenham. Making Punk a Treat Again - puts on benefit punk rock gigs. (M.P.A.T.A c/o Phoenix Press, PO Box 824, London, N4 9DL) XDOT CottonX is taking a break from gig-organising for the moment apart from casual jams at a local squat coffee shop and a Catharsis gig. (Same contact as Synthesis Distro)

6. As a feminist what is your impression of fashion slavery and economic exploitation of women/girls by the industry?

It will take many years, a couple of generations to get people and this now includes men and boys, out of his mindset of concentrating on their outward appearance. The people in these industries surely have no conscience. It goes beyond exploiting people for financial gain; it effects how people view and treat each other, whether it is between females or between the sexes. It effects people's feelings of self-worth. Ultimately the "beauty" and "fashion" industries contribute tremendously to a cycle of unhappiness and consumerism in which most people are trapped.

7. American democracy and law-your perception of that?

The American people have many destructive mindsets, but a major problem with their policymakers is a totally insular perspective; they just do not know that the rest of the world exists and this helps them to not see how evilly destructive their foreign policies are. The recent rejection of the chemical weapons treaty is a classic example. I hate the USA and wish it would fall into the ocean.

8. Do you have planned for the future of synthesis zine?

A new issue out in 2002 all about the nature/nurture debate, feminist direct action and contraception.

9. Thank's Laura, anything to add before the end?

Thank's for sending me some of the most inspiring questions. Solidarity with all of you in Malaysia fighting the authorities!

LONDON SCENE REPORT

The really dodgy bands and labels are not included here. In the long run they do not contribute to the scene or the world and they do not deserve any space anyway. The long standing squad/infoshop/autonomous space/cafe/venue the 121 was the closest London had to a hub of activity, unity and common cause equivalent to Bradford's in 12. The nature of London is such though that it can be difficult to get much of a sense at all at the local scene. Consequently, a few of us are working to form a legit but alternative venue: Emmaz Club (named for Emma Goldman). Emmaz will be a members club like Bradford's 1 in 12 run along anarchist principles. When the 2000. INNERTRUTH also wanted to cheer up the scene over here in kk and hope our shout were heard and accepted.

2. INNERTRUTH is a political Hc/punk band, right? Actually what is the songs all about and tell me about INNERTRUTH influences? Did you think Hc/punk: It's just another musical-taste or messages is more important and what is Hc/punk means to you? As a political band, how to ensure your political activities on the public area in general particular community?

I don't really sure about that, INNERTRUTH consist 6 different people and not all of us were actively involved in political issues. Our songs now were mainly about our life our idea about the scene, about Hc/punk. I think Hc/punk means community. The one that always practice positive ethics that would make us stronger in facing the brutal unforgiving world. Hc/punk message usually spreaded on white papers and shouting during shows. It's the style of Hc/punk...for me.

3. Personally, what is your thought on global diy communication conspiracy towards the worldwide Hardcore-Punk scene as to changes on proficilly regarding our releasing diy stuffs to other peoples knowable? And what is your perspective on the one of our major problems in commercialism? In the same case, publishing a diy level possibility really frustrating on quality, so how to stabilize our diy products such as a good zines, records, bands?

For me personally, if we wanted to change this world in a world-wide scale we must let our releases "knowable" and reachable for the world-wide community. We can't deny the fact that if we just keep on spreading our propaganda only around our Hc/punk community, we are changing our world not the entire worlds population. So in this type of situation we must upgrate our our product quality and our distribution wideness. When this happens no one could escape from commercialisation except we have enough economic support to build a big strong and world-wide scale diy distro. In this case Hc/punk community must to think how to gain the economical support we needed. The fact of this world now is money controls everything. Without strong economical support we can just forget about world-wide scale distro and high quality product, but I'm not telling that diy is silly...no..no...it's not like that. What I'm saying is if diy want to be accepted and respected it must have some credibility and of course to be one of the major alternative in spreading music and our propaganda through-out the entire world. But if we just wanted to change ourselves and not this entire world you could just forget what I've say just now.

4. 'Revolution exist by unity'...what is your apprehension about this sentence, does we was on the way of revolution era and how the words of unity could give an impact to our community? But when we think about our scene, it's still lack of provocative ideas or even of immature attitude. So, what is the determinantly correct to react our subversive activities on the revolution way? Could we make any direct action?

Revolution for me can trigger unity among ourselves but what is the problem now is to make a reasonable, strong and universal revolution for all peoples in our community. To create an idealism of the revolution is not an easy things, it must have proper strategy and firm background to attract peoples to believe in the revolution. Just a provocative idea for me won't bring any revolution if it's only same old, silly ideas. What is needed to trigger a revolution for me is a very very smooth and powerful strategy. Subversive way could be one of the way to start a revolution. A direct action also can be used as the last way to trigger one revolution.

5. "Solidarity is a weapon"...How it's going to be in our scene?

Solidarity is a very tied-up with unity. If we believe in same ideology and we united for it, that's called solidarity. In our scene now, solidarity exists and it's growing stronger. This something we needed so much for us to face problems.

6. "Religion vs Hc/punk"...what the hot topic here! How to confronted this issue in our scene? And say something about Homophobic and Sexist?

For me there is no such things, religion for me would never versus Hc/punk. I could scoop someone idea about this, he told me that religion and Hc/punk is two very different things. I'm not totally 100% behind him because for me nothing not a single creature or idea or thought or anything in this universe could versus or fight with the God The Almighty who taught us religion. Maybe some of us find that religion/God is just like drugs, we only find it when we need it but for me it becoming like that because of his thought himself. Religion must be practiced all the time so from it we could find that religion is not just like drugs. Some of us didn't believe in religion and God or such thing because they are very very tied-up with logic and scientific explanation. If all in this universe can be explain by the science could you please tell me who created this universe? Who created you? Please tell me that it isn't God who created all of us. In the scene this issue become complicated because peoples who doesn't understand religion firmly is the one who is fighting it with his never fight for anything again. It all happens at grassroots level and much of the (dis)organization involved practical (not ideological) anarchists who are against hierarchy and bureaucracy so things really are done totally without "leaders" and "spokespeople". Actions happen because they are necessary and because we have thought of fun and creative way of doing them. We involve thousands of very different people, we do not have membership.

3. About BSE/Mad Cow Disease, how can this be prevented and how concerned were Animal Rights activists?

At the moment the UK is in the grip of another agricultural panic because of "foot and mouth disease" which is resulting in tens of thousands of animal being killed all over the country. BSE is caused by the totally unnatural practices of farmers such as feeding cows agricultural waste such as cow flesh! British farmers, like farmers everywhere are drugging and abusing animals and destroying and polluting the environment. Britain's agricultural economy is a big thing to address from the basis though of course it upsets all us vegans here to see the daily destruction of sick and even healthy animals on television. Most animal rights campaign address other industries such as vivisection which is easier to change and more sympathetic to the public. At the same time of course we are encouraging people to change their eating habits and this is effecting the meat and dairy industries.

4. So, what is the reason of the Genetic Experiment-pollution and VCJD production, is Genetic Modification dangerous?

The usual reason-evil greedy capitalist. They want seeds that can't grow, vegetables with pretty colours but no vitamins and all sort of other totally unnecessary rubbish. The cause of VCJD is still unknown. It will be generations before we know the result of GM. If we let the GM industry get away with their abuse of power that in itself will be dangerous. Already their products have resulted strains of indestructible insects and I am certain that many of their creations will continue to have adverse effects on animals, people and the environment.

5. What are your dealings with political activism?

I get to the global days of action in London, occasionally go to animal rights things, distribute a lots of literature and resource and do similar little things like that. I am particularly interested in activism in these areas: feminism, animal rights and peace & disarmament but I do a bit of everything I guess.

12. Okay, thank's all guys. Hope you'll enjoy to answer this interview. So tell me about INNERTRUTH plannig for the goal future? And anything to add, comments, etc...last throat by INNERTRUTH?

Thank you Ibrahim to give me such opportunities to answer such a great interview! I hope you're not devastated as only me answering this interview not all of my fellow colleagues and I hope you satisfied with my crazy brain shit. And I hope you'll understand my broken english correctly! About INNERTRUTH future plans I think there's only one right now that is to record a compilation with other KK Ho/punk bands, just watch out for it! Last words from me good luck for your zine and thank's again...assalamuallaikum/greeting to all!

INTERVIEW SECTION : WITH SYNTHESIS Answered : By Laura

1. Tell me about the political situation-capitalist and the police in britain at the moment?

The Prime Minister Tony Blair uses Stalinist methods to carry out his political goal of getting re-elected. Ironically his new labour Government has brought in some very progressive policies and campaigns but only very quietly, almost secretly! Their high profile policies reactionary, populist and extremely, dogmatically capitalist. They are carrying out Thatcherite policies of privatising everything, making protest illegal and supporting every right wing insanity the US administration comes up with such as Son Of Star Wars. After the police bungled the follow-up to a racist murder 8 years ago, they are facing some much-needed overview and reformation. There are some instances of brutality and incompetence they are less likely to get rid of but of course like every other police force in the world they are also encouraged to carry out any extreme of brutality against anti-capitalist activists. They are also cracking down on the animal rights movement.

2. I have heard of so much direct activism in Britain, tell me some about the organization and it's impact to british society?

We have a lot to be proud of with the direct action movement. We have politicized things like roadbuilding and capitalism at a time when it seemed like people would

Ho/punk belief which he think is true. Than a lot of peoples aren't willing to discuss and mix Ho/punk with religion because they say it's two different things. In this case I think this issue won't come out with a solution because everybody have their own belief and not all people are ready to discuss this issue. And for me sexist is irrelevant but homophobic is a big issue. Homophobic could be translated with secular perspective and religious perspective, if we take the secular perspective so it become legal because it the human rights. If we see from religious perspective it become illegal because the "hukum" says like that. So it's up to you from where you wanted to see it but for me I'll see it from religious aspect because I lost my trust to secular.

7. On your political/social outlook, the ravine of superior and inferior was showed a deeply discriminations about hierarchy in the society. How to fight this determinism and how to prevent the classism in the society?

Create a society who doesn't care about classism, just like that. But for me it's nearly impossible and couldn't be done without a very-very strong, firm and 100% belief in all of it's members. Classism had exists maybe in the beginning of human life, it had existed for an imaginable time. So to abolish classism is not easy and takes maybe 20-25 years. It can be done when a group child is thought from the first day he/she met earth that classism sucks and it must not be practised at all costs. Then when the group reaches 20-25 years old they could form a society that is clean from classism thought. If we now the one who already know and use this classism thing wanted to demolish it, it's nearly and i'm saying very-very near to impossible.

8. Nowadays, we heard about Globalization as a new world economic era by WTO implementation such as liberalization international trade-free, showed the inequality and injustice threatened in this third world centuries. Do you believe this would give a good impact and what will happen to our fate concernedly the social-care,enviroment,human rights,etc? Would you regretable to living this third world country because this Globalization only give advantageous to the greediness power? And what will happen to the poorest?

I'm looking this Globalization as a new way of imperialism in the new millenium. The westerners could not forget the wonderful years when they conquer 2/3 of this earth. With it they start a new method to bring back those wonderful years. as we know Globalization is more concentrated in the economical sector. But why? As I said in earlier question because in this world today money is everything, money is power. With money they didn't have to fight a war to conquer a country, they just have to take control of the country's economy and the country theirs actually. Like Malaysia also, our economy is back-boned by westerners investment. So when they take back only some of his investments, many people will lose jobs. Money would flow out and this country's economy is going down, no one can deny that westerners had already controlled our economy. For us as the third world country that only achieved our independence when Yuri Gagarin of Russia have already in space. We are totally vulnerable to this attack from westerners but why our Government always says that Globalization is good and we must prepare ourselves to face it? I think it most probably they have their own equity in the westerners business, so if the westerners is rich sucking blood from our poor civilians they also get some of the richness. Who knows? Maybe and it's not impossible. And when we wanted to burst the economical structure somethings are may be in danger. And it is environment, human rights and social-care, I don't think they would care a lot about these "silly" stuffs for them when they were busy sucking out money and blood from our country. Who cares? They say my house aren't this country, my house aren't polluted, my house don't have problems, my money is flowing in, in an enormous unimaginable quantity! What can we say, just one word for discrimination FIGHT! That's the only way and these all shows that Globalization would give a very-very firm places for greedy western and local capitalist to exploit all the resources to fulfill their unimaginable lust, greed, hunger for money and power.

9. Are you agreed if I'd says we was trapped in the system? Sometimes the total freedom cannot exist because of the blockade by the monarchy's power, laws, etc. Did' you saw that human rights was able to implement the justice and equality in Malaysia just another hypocritical? So should we take any action to changes this injustice system?

Yes absolutely true! We are trapped in the system and no one can deny it. System in the dictionary meaning is group of working things or parts working together, so can we escape from system? I don't think so. And total freedom also are not possibly would come out with a better result compares to a situation where fucked-up system exist, all things would screwed-up if they aren't any system. Please show me how to run Hc/punk without system, without anyone working together. System is compulsory, it can't be separated from human life but what we need is the best system to manage our daily life. Actually I already have a system in my mind but I still don't have the knowledge to defend it firmly without any question would deny it and human rights for me is needed but it's not a best way to implement justice and equality. For me human rights would never win if they don't have enough power to trigger an explosion of enlightenmen in all of our society members. Militant action is the last and I mean it, the last way to fight injustice system in Malaysia.

10. Tell me your opinions about the cheap labour that forced by NIKE and REEBOK factory?

As the word "force" existed in the line. It shows the labour is working without his/her agreement but if they work there with an agreement and they themselves don't care about it why should we make noises out of they problems? If they were forced and don't have power to fight back then we are relevant to help them. If they wanted to work there and don't care about the low wage, why should we care? They must fight back for themselves first then peoples will listen and help out. That's my opinions about this issue.

11. Can you tell me what is the question I didn't ask for INNERTRUTH? Yeah!...how do you feel in being love with someone (hehehe...killer question! I'm going blank here!)? And what are you doing beside the band?

Hmm, you didn't ask me if I like J.Lo's butt..hehe..just jocking! I think all of your questions already make my brain nearly dried out. Thank God it's ended then..love?..haha..simple but tough. Some say love is evil, some say love is power, some others say love is heaven..I say love is feeling. And the feelings is missing someone you love not lusty for someone sexy. Love can be power if you make it as motivation, love can be evil if you being devilish when you're in love and love is heaven when you don't realise that heaven isn't on earth. And I believe love is blind, I'd love someone who's like a princess for me when I'm just a dirty poor servant. Maybe I'm stupid, maybe I'm high-tasted, maybe I'm high-lusted and maybe I'm too ambitious? Only God knows. Let her live ~~her~~ live and let me live my life. My life that tells who I am, I don't have to be another person to love another person and I know this love just a monkey-love..fuck me!..and I think now you all know what I'm doing beside the band..I'm in love..haha..silly me!..actually working on my newsletter named "Age Of Reason" and it has been the third issue since I'm writing now. Maybe three or four weeks from when I'm writing now the fourth issue would come out..but only time will tell.
